Domenico's on the Wharf Features Wild Alaskan Halibut During the Month of April

Enjoy an Almond Crusted Wild Alaskan Halibut Special!

MONTEREY, CALIF. – Halibut Season, which began March 15 and runs through September, is well underway, and the catch from the cold waters in the Gulf of Alaska is the best in the world. Domenico's on the Wharf, is expecting a shipment of fresh and flaky Wild Alaskan Halibut and will feature this seasonal fish at the restaurant.

Halibut is known for its delicate sweet flavor, snow-white color and firm, flaky meat. It is an excellent source of protein, high in minerals and healthy fats. Halibut is a versatile fish that goes well with many types of recipes.

Dominic and Sam Mercurio, owners of Domenico's on the Wharf, will serve an Almond Crusted Wild Alaskan Halibut as a featured dish in April. The white, mild fish will be coated with California-grown almonds, fresh parsley, garlic and extra virgin olive oil, then drizzled with a delicate beurre blanc sauce. This special will be accompanied by cauliflower mashed potatoes and seasonal house vegetables. Carmel Hills Pinot Noir pairs nicely with the dish.

The almonds used for the recipe are grown by Dominic Mercurio on his ranch, J.D. Farms, located in Los Banos, Calif.

The Almond-Crusted Wild Alaskan Halibut special will be offered at Domenico's on the Wharf beginning mid-April and is $29.95.
